Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Articles of incorporation have been filed by a Los Angeles group of business men, organized to put an end to the abuses of the initiative and referendum. A constitutional amendment is proposed. This is in line with the thought expressed in this column in recent weeks. We believe all citizens who wish to be spared the annual expense and energy entailed in battling such measures, will support the program which this Los Angeles corporation will soon offer.

Incidentally, it does seem appropriate that from Los Angeles should come the cure for our Utopian plagues. As it were, "a hair from the dog that bites us," every year. Perhaps the movement to abate the nuisance is born naturally in the neighborhood of the nuisance. Now that Sheridan Downey has been elected to the U. S. Senate, Northern California has been comparatively free of medicine barkers. While we in the north have been making our annual battle upon the unwholesome emanations from Southern California, they still cannot be so offensive to us as they are to those who are unfortunate enough to live slap-bang alongside their source.

We have before us the report of the Governor's Commission on Reemployment. It provides first for a new State Planning Board to supercede the old planning board which is composed of elected state officials. The governor wants to appoint a new one. It is proposed to appropriate money for properly staffing the new board. It provides for the reorganization of state agencies and commissions under the planning board.

Upon this first provision depends all else. The planning board would be top dog at the pie counter and over the planning board would be Governor Olson. We don't like it. Into the governor's hands would be given the power either to kill or cure, and we have never had confidence in the governor's ability to cure. Former Governor Young reorganized the state government during his administration, and did a good job. Why not return to that pattern, which provided, if memory serves for eight general departments, the heads of which constituted the governor's cabinet? It will work under any honest and able governor to the advantage of the tax payers.

The second recommendation, providing all power reside in the hands of a planning board with the governor in authority over the board, is a works program. This it is stated should be a combination cooperative operation and a direct production project. The latter is to be supplemented by consumer cooperatives. Upton Sinclair was defeated for governor for advocating this particular plan. But he succeeded in grafting the idea on his then disciple, Olson, and now Olson come to be governor, tries to put it over.

There is no doubt at all that, given money enough, a blank check upon the tax resources of California, this plan would work after a fashion. Greenbelt a Federal village erected near Washington at a cost of umpty umph millions works. It was built for low income families, each house costing from $5,000 to $8,000. But no slum dwellers ever moved in. All the lovely residences are occupied by Federal employes. We have never seen figures on the rentals paid, but we surmise that a small selected group of Federal pets are living in those houses at the tax payers expense. The builder, Mr. Tugwell, was given a blank check on U. S. tax payers.

In the same way the establishment of state financed cooperatives would undoubtedly work. The governor insists that it would save the taxpayers money. We don't think so. Let a tax eating hog get his snout inside the state treasury and presently all four hams are inside. The production cooperatives no matter how well disguised ultimately begin to compete with private business, which suffers the competition while at the same time paying taxes to support the cooperatives.

The third recommendation provides a new set-up for agricultural surpluses. Instead, however, of buying these surpluses for cash

THURMAN TAKES STAND ON ABUSE INITIATIVE LAW

COLFAX, Nov. 13.—Assemblyman Allen G. Thurman, of the sixth district, states that he will endeavor to initiate legislation at the coming special session of the legislature designed to curb the misuse of the initiative by clever promoters and scheming manipulators and protect the taxpayers from the unnecessary and needless expenditure of thousands of dollars in election costs. An example of the misuse of the initiative is seen, stated Thurman, in the attempt of the "Ham and Eggs" pension plan promoters to not only recall Governor Olson but to place the pension proposal on another special election ballot notwithstanding that it has twice been defeated within one year. The local assemblyman has received numerous requests from citzens of his district asking that he propose and sponsor such legislation.

Thurman believes that once an initiative measure is defeated at an election. it should not be permitted to again appear on the ballot until the succeeding state or general election. Should a measure be defeated twice in a row, as was the pension plan, he believes that possibly a longer period should elapse before the measure could again be presented by the proponents of the plan. Not only the "Ham and Eggs" measure but other pet measures of scheming promoters should be curbed to some extent in the interest of the citizens and the taxpayers, Thurman believes. The local legislator further believes that if such legislation to limit initiative and referendum proposals was passed by the legislature and was referred to the people for a vote that it would carry by a large majority.

NEV. CITY GRID TEAM DEFEATED

By BARBARA PHARISS

Football season is over for another year. The last game was held Saturday with the Grass Valley Miners meeting the Nevada City Yellowjackets and defeating them by the score of 19 to 0.

The 'Jackets were perhaps not up to their mark shown in the last few games. Up to the half they held their opponents evenly but in the last half the game was played mostly near the Valley goal line. Three touchdowns and one conversion were made during this half. In the latter part, the Grass Valley B team was put in, but it was too much for the local boys. A run was made nearly the length of the field, after an intercepted pass, for a third touchdown.

The fact that there were several casualties among the Yellowjackets, hindered the team. Williams, who was hurt in the first play, injured his leg, which is now in a cast. Schmidt and Coughlan also suffered injuries.

The starting lineup was: Center, McCartney; right end, Strach; right tackle, Spracklin; right guard, Ponticelli; left guard, Mitchell, left tackle, Coughlan; left end, Martin; quarter back, Davis; right halfback, Schmidt; left halfback, Joyal; and full back, Williams. Substitutes who were used in the game are: Muscardini, Roberts, Phillips, Broce, Engstrom, Creedman, Ronninger, Angelini, and Ruth.

Victory for the Grass Valley high school is due to the fact that they have several times as large an enrollment as Nevada City, and have much more material to choose from. The local eleven and their coach Mr. Edward Frantz deserve much credit for their hard work this year.

Friday afternoon the Yellowjackets B football team went to the valley and were defeated by a 7 to 0 score. It was an exciting game and the local boys showed up well against their opponents.

The Nevada City Yellowjackets C basketball team was defeated by the Miners C team Friday afternoon in the Grass Valley gymnasium.

NEUTRALS HARD HIT BY COST OF BORDER GUARDS

By JAMES PRESTON

For hard and realistic descriptions of what something really means, it's usually a good idea to go to the dictionary or encyclodepia. The definitions contained therein may not be very poetic, but they give a real picture of the hard facts.

Here's the definition of war contained in the encyclopedia:

"The act of war consists in the destruction of men's bodies and the work of their hands."

More and more, as reports from all over the world come pouring into Washington, experts are being made to realize the destructive effect of war, either directly or indirectly, to the "work of men's hands"—to the industry and enterprise that in time of peace are devoted to making the material life of people happier, and more comfortable.

The first observation naturally made by economists on this subject is that war expenditures generally are not what is called "productive."

To put it another way, money that goes into an explosive shell does not produce anything. Instead, it destroys not only life but other things which also cost money.

A tractor, for example is productive, if it is used to plow and plant a farm. The food it produces goes to the general benefit, But if the tractor is covered with armor plate and turned into a tank, it becomes a destructive rather than a constructive weapon.

Thus the present war like all others is proving a serious drain upon every nation. It would appear that most Americans now realize that without, perhaps, having put it into those words. Certainly industry, as its attitude is reflected through the recent anti-war declaration of the National Association of Manufacturers, realizes. American manufacturers would a lot rather sell plows than swords, for plows produce goods which a farmer can sell for money with which to buy more plows.

Confidential reports which have just reached Washington tell a tragic story about the cost of war to tiny, neutral Switzerland.

Perched high in the Alps and facing belligerents on two sides, the Swiss are well aware that their fertile plateau and valley lands offer one of the best stategic military routes around the Maginot Line and the Siegfried West Wall. To avoid offending any nation, and thus offering an excuse for invasion, they have made neutrality almost a religion.

They have carried this so far that when their president recently visited the frontier on an inspection tour he gave cigarettes to both the French and German soldiers posted on the border.

But the neutrality is an armed neutrality. The Swiss are determined to defend their land against any invader. Consequently their craftsmen who are famed throughout the world for their ability to make delicate mechanical devices have been called to take up arms. That is where the tragic part of the story enters.

Reports seeping into Washington tell that it is costing Switzerland more than a million dollars a day to keep the workmen mobilized. That is a tremendous sum when one remembers that the Swiss government's expenditures for all purposes in 1938 were only $125,872,000. Maintaining her present army alone would cost nearly three times that much.

Even more important is that Switzerland's foreign trade is disappearing. In the one month of September the Swiss lost 54 per cent of their trade. Switzerland will have the terrifically increased cost to meet and reduced income to meet it.

TO OPEN CLINIC FOR VENEREAL DISEASE IN G. V.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—Arrangements for a Nevada County venereal disease clinic to be opened in Grass Valley the middle of December by Dr. W. M. Dickie, director, State Departmen of Public Health.

The clinic will be one of a chain of 125 diagnostic and treatment centers operated by state and local health departments in California in cooperation with the program instituted by the U. S. Public Health Service to stamp out syphilis and gonorrhea.

Dr. Earle A. Casey, Grass Valley physician, will be in charge of the clinic which will be housed in quarters furnished by the American Legion in the basement of the Veterans Memorial Hall, 255 South Auburn Street. Miss Elsie Puech, American Red Cross nurse, will act as clinic nurse while Mrs. Marion Newberry, public health school nurse, will make home visits in the county.

The State Department of Public Health will equip the clinic and will supply drugs and forms. Dr. Carl P. Jones, Nevada County Health Officer and Dr. E. M. Roesner, Grass Valley Health Officer, assisted in arranging for the clinic and will cooperate in the project.

Free examinations, including blood tests for syphilis, diagnosis and emergency treatment will be available to everyone. Patients who are able to pay will be referred to private physicians, while continued free treatment will be given the medically indigent, Dr. Dickie announced.

"Syphilis and gonorrhea can be cured by modern methods if treatment is begun in the early stages of the disease. For this reason it is important that diagnosis be made as soon as possible after infection. That is why the state and federal program makes free diagnosis available to everyone, regardless of income or residence.

"Syphilis requires a minimum of 70 weeks continuous treatment. Injections of drugs are given once a week, every week, without interruption. Because the treatment is so prolonged many patients cannot afford to pay for private care and fincial inability is the leading cause of patients stopping treatment before the disease is cured or permanently arrested.

"The high cost of cure is the reason why we make free treatment available for the medically indigent without regard to residence requirements. Because there is a chain of clinics throughout the state operating under the same regulations there is no danger this liberal admission policy will cause a community to be flooded with infected persons who are looking for treatment.

"No community would permit a person with smallpox to go without medical care because he could not pay for it or because he didn't have county residence. Syphilis and gonorrhea are even greater menaces to the public health," Dr. Dickie said.

SISTER OF MRS. DRAPER, IN OAKLAND, PASSES

Mrs. Hal Draper heard Sunday of the sudden death of her sister, Mrs. Bernice S. Evans of Oakland and left at once. Mrs. Evans had visited in this city about two weeks ago and her death came as a great shock to family members and friends.

Mrs. Evans was the former Miss Bernice Shaw, native of Nevada City who grew to young womanhood here. She leaves to mourn her passing two children eight and 15 years of age, a husband; sister, Mrs. Hal Draper, Nevada City; brother, Norman Shaw of Berkeley besides nephews and nieces.

Mrs. Draper will remain until after the funeral services.

ANNUAL SAFARI AND THANK OFFERING TEA

At the Methodist church parlors tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 1 o'clock, will be held the annual safari. This will be followed by the thankoffering tea.

ARMISTICE DAY EVENTS ATTRACT LARGE CROWDS

Parading through the business district of Grass Valley to the music of two bands, the war veterans of Nevada City-Grass Valley opened a day-long program of events celebrating the 21st anniversary of the signing of the Armistice Saturday.

The parade was followed by a program at the Veterans Memorial building at 11 o'clock featured by an address by District Attorney Lowell Sparks of Placer county and several musical and literary numbers.

Flag raising ceremonies were held at Hennessy Field at 1:30 o'clock before an overflow crowd as a prelude to the annual "big game" between the Nevada City Yellowjackets and the Grass Valley Miners. After holding their heavily favored rivals for the first half, the 'Jackets finally wilted in the third and fourth quarters and lost an 19-0 decision to the powerful Miner squad.

Sixty members of Banner Mountain Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars were present at a Virginia ham banquet held in the VFW hall in Nevada City. The American Legion dined at the banquet room of the county building at 6:30, while the auxiliary held its dinner at the Bret Harte Inn at the same hour. The Canadian Legion held a 5 o'clock dinner at Serra Hall.

The day's program was ended with a dance at the Veterans Memorial building.

CHILDREN DIE OF NEGLECT IN HITLERLAND

Returning from Europe to resume his work in medical research at the University of California, Dr. John H. Lawrence, a survivor of the torpedoed Athenia is saddened by the blow war has dealt to constructive science in dictator-controlled countries. "Scientists deep in experiments that might bring a lessening of human suffering," he states, "have left their work uncompleted to answer the call of destruction."

Expanding the same thought in terms of human life and death, Dr. Logan Clendening, medical authority, reveals that unhygenic crowding of German children into youth movement camps, plus scanty distribution of medicine and means of disease prevention, plus exile of doctors because of racial discrimination, have introduced murder by neglect into the nurseries of Naziland. Last year in Germany he reports, 149,429 children died of dipththeria—while in America, one of the nations sneered at by Adolph Hitler as a "decadent, inefficient" democrary, and with nearly twice the population, dipththeria deaths numbered but 473. And last year, in California and her sister state of Nevada, 700 physicians and 150 dentists administered treatment to 34,994 farm workers, including thousands of migrants, through the Agricultural Workers' Health and Medical Association.

Perhaps democratic government of the people, by the people, and for the people is by its very nature "unwieldly and inefficient" in some respects in contrast with the machinelige precision of a totalitarian state where everyone moves like an automaton at one voice of command. Yet Americans—scoentists, businessmen, professional men, workers — have built the greatest and richest nation of all time on the democratic pattern. And the problems yet unsolved will be solved the American way —without the stain of condemning children to death by neglect, without murder in the nurseries of American homes.

Karl Kopp Jr., who took delivery of a new car at Flint, Michigan, arrived home Sunday. He has been gone since the first of the month. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Viles accompanied a party of car buyers from the twin cities.

SUFFERS SKULL INJURY IN FALL FROM TRUCK

W. E. Wilson is in the county hospital suffering from a fractured skull which he sustained when he fell from a moving truck Saturday. While walking with a companion Saturday they met a friend who invited them to ride and the younger man to drive his truck. Wilson climbed in behind and sat down. Upon reaching their destination Wilson was missing. The men hurriedly retraced their route and found him lying beside the highway unconscious. Sheriff Carl Tobiassen was called and Wilson was moved to the county hospital.

Wilson is an elderly man. He resides in the "Castle" in Nevada City. It is believed he will make a complete recovery in a short time.

Thanksgiving Day(s)

Out of the hubbub over America's two Thanksgiving Days for 1939 has come spontaneous publicity for the spirit of Democracy that should prove a tonic to all men in the world who believe in individual freedom of action and speech. Most of the news is humor typically American. With its tongue in its cheek, the town of Plymouth, where the first Thanksgiving Day was held, invited President Roosevelt to be its guest at dinner November 30. And with his tongue in his cheek, the President, who has proclaimed November 23 for the Day, politely sent his "regrets" because he has "a previous engagement"! The 48 States are evenly divided. Twenty three, including California, have adopted the earlier date. Twenty three have decided on the traditional last Thursday. The remaining two, Texas and Colorado, have accepted both dates. Such a coincidence of exactly even division makes one suspect that all the governors got together to have some fun. And only chuckles were evoked by the widely-printed gag:

"Thirty days hath September,
April, June and November;
All the rest have thirty-one—
Until we hear from Washington!"

Lucky America! The tolerance, the independence, the mutual good-will behind such humor bespeaks the solid, enduring values of the American way of life more eloquently than a library of learned exposition. Mr. Roosevelt would not be far amiss if, at the last moment, he proclaimed both days as official in Washington's eyes. This country has reason to be thankful enough to fill two days of celebration! —Contributed.

After "Ham and Eggs"?

Although the landslide proportions of California's repudiation of "Ham and Eggs" was a salutary thinfi, not only for this state but for others where similar schemes are being hatched, no humane person can feel anything but sympathy for the earnest, honest and deluded souls who pinned their hopes on the impossible plan, and trusted promoters who led them astray. For many an old man, and many an old woman, feeling friendless and alone and helpless, spent a sad Wednesday when the papers announced that their Utopian dream had fallen to ashes.

Yet there has been no callous rejection by California voters of the plea of the helpless old for security—only rejection of an impracticable and ruinous proposal. No conscientious citizen dismisses the problem of the old with the defeat of "Ham and Eggs." The very Californians who rejected 30-Thursday now pay the highest old age pension in the world, with a peak of $40 a month! But only nationally, as economists agree, can a practical, prideful and adequate pension undertaking be attempted successfully. The time will come, we predict, when many a disappointed 30-Thursday supporter will look back and rejoice that "Ham and Eggs" was so roundly beaten. That time will be when a supportable, practicable, payable pension system will be in effect from coast to coast and border to border.—Contributed.

That Crazy Moon!

Dr. Will Durant, erudite author-philosopher, this week unburdened himself of a gloomy prediction that progress is killing romance. Quoth he: "With industrialization of society, the family is no longer a unit of economic production. The wife is no longer a useful partner. She is virtually a luxury. With the passing of the era wherein most wives spun and wove their own cloth, hand-churned their own butter, and all that, the good Dr. Durant sees the decline of marriage along with the decline of economic necessity for a wife.

That seems very logical (philosophers are always logical). But once a poet (poets are never logical) remarked that if he could write nation's songs he wouldn't care who made its laws, customs or conditions. And, while Dr. Durant was issuing his profound statement, a late ong hit was, so to speak, drowning him out. It is entitled "Oh, You Crazy Moon!" The song writer's idea is that young people just fall in love, and are "crazy" about one another, and are delisiously happy and don't know why—and just blame it on the moon. There's no logic in that. Let the ages bear out the song writer. Philosophers come and philosophers go, while—as all poets and young lovers know—that crazy moon goes on forever. Why? Only the little guy with the bow and arrow knows and he'll never explain it—because he isn't a logical philosopher. He's a song writer, too! —Contributed.

money, it is proposed to pay the farmer with an order or warrant payable in commodities carried by the production cooperatives. In other words the retailer that now supplies the farmer will lose his business and the cooperative will get it. The present system seems to be working satisfactorily, why change, except to throw a greater burden on the tax payer and more power into the hands of the governor.

The fourth recommendation deals with rural housing. It is quite true that housing for migrant workers in some localities has not yet reached a tolerable standard of decency, but with Federal assistance the work of building sanitary and comfortable dwellings for farm workers is well started and will, within a short time it is expected, provide adequate and serviceable houses throughout the agricultural areas. This recommendation carries with it a proposal to establish a state housing authority, modeled somewhat upon the Federal plan. It is proposed that this authority shall build villages adjacent to farming areas, both building sites and farm areas to be acquired by the state. In this connection it is well to remember the Delta project upon which the state embarked a generation ago. It was finally abandoned after millions of dollars had been sunk in it.

The last and fifth recommendation has to do with establishing the SRA as a rental agency for relief clients. To this there is the objection that it would work a hardship on the regular private agencies that now supply houses, but as a matter of fact most of them undoubtedly would be glad to transfer the service to the state. If the SRA were to take over this function however, it ought to add but little to the present cost of administration.

We freely admit that we have given this report little more than cursory perusal, but by and large it calls for the creation of another state commission, and within that a state housing authority, and for a large expenditure of tax funds on another experiment. It would place in the governor's control another army of state employees, which, once attached to the state payroll, would never be shaken off. We believe that we should be given more time to digest the experiments we are already taxed to support. We believe that tax payers are entitled to a break, that we already are paying all the taxes that we should pay, and that the state administration should shun experiments and keep expenses within the staggering tax total sum now collected.

"UNREAL REALITIES"

AN AMERICAN "KINGDOM"
Did you know that a King still rules a section of America, four-fifths as large as the whole state of Delaware? That's the size of King's Ranch in southern Texas, the largest ranch in America, perhaps in the world. You could ride horseback for days without reaching the end of this "regal" dominion.

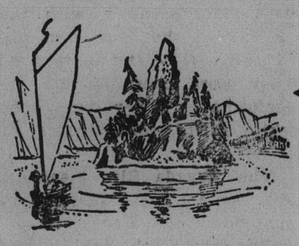

BUSES HELP MAINTAIN HIGHWAYS
Figures show that motor buses pay 40% of the cost of maintaining the highways they use . . . a greater amount per passenger than private cars. For many people who do not own automobiles, buses provide their only means of enjoying the public highways.

GOLF, INCORPORATED
Tavistock, New Jersey, is any golf-bug's idea of heaven—a unique town whose whole business is golf. It consists almost entirely of a splendid golf course and a fine clubhouse which in off moments is the town hall as well—for the officers of the club are the mayor and town council. Fore!

LAKE IN A VOLCANO
A lake six miles long and four miles wide lies in the crater of a volcano that collapsed centuries ago! Nor is that the only unusual thing about Crater Lake, Oregon—it's more than 6000 feet above sea level, yet it never freezes—it has no known inlet or outlet!

POPULAR GREYHOUND TRIPS TO BE CONTINUED

So popular have been Greyhound's circle bus trips around America that they will be continued until October 31, 1940, it has been announced by W. E. Travis, president of Pacific Greyhound Lines. Many thousands of people have taken these remarkable tours during the two World's Fairs. "Never before" said Mr. Travis, "has the eraveling public been offered such a bargain. For only $69.95, the traveler can leave his home, visit San Francisco, travel over a choice of many scenic routes to New York, and then back home over an entirely different route, making a complete circle of the United States if he chooses. Or he can make the trip eastward, going to New York first."

SPENDOMANIA AND ITS DISMAL RESULTS IN U. S.

Among the "heartening results" of spendomania and un-American experiments, for which, presumably, we are asked to give thanks a little earlier than usual this year, might be listed:

The standing army of the unemployed.

The greatest national debt in world history.

High and constantly mounting taxes.

Disheartened, over-regulated industry.

Threatened nationel bankruptcy.

Our government spends $15,000 every minute, but collects only $8,000 in taxes every minute. The difference amounts to over 3 billion 679 million dollars a year—$3,679,200,000 annually!

Uncle Sam's Indians are just a step or two ahead of the rest of us, apparently. They have already achieved the goal toward which an increasing number of white citizens are heading. They are 100 per cent wards of the government, the ultimate in new dealism.

A friend who recently visited the Hoopa tribe, in Northern California, reports that these once noble red man, traditional fishermen, now don't bother to fish e,ven when the salmon run in the Klamath river is at its height. They buy canned salmon at the trading post.

From 30 to 40 million men, women and children in this country now receive benefits of one kind or another from our government. Many of them once were self reliant and industrious. They have become reconciled to living on thinly disguised charity. They prefer not to work for any economic royalty.

Soon, perhaps, we can all be like the Hoopas.

After the "evil old man" attack on Vice President Garner by John L. Lewis, one man telegraphed to Garner: "They have been drinking vodka in Washington too long. I am glad you drink whisky."

As long ago as 1917 the country was warned that machines were displacing labor and that the capitalist system was done for. We still hear the same tune, now and then.

Meanwhile the automobile industry alone has grown until it employs, directly and indirectly, 8,000,000 men. Prices have been reduced and wages increased, since the days when cars were made by hand. One person out of every five owns a car and almost 80 per cent of all the cars in the world are owned in this country. The radio, telephone and hundreds of other machines bring employment to more millions of people.

Our capitalistic system—as it existed before 1932—wasn't so bad. Do you know of a better one?

In 1918, the U. S. Department of Agriculture spent about 43 million dollars and Congress thought it was too much. They cut it to 39 million dollars in 1919. Then the farm bloc got under way and an era of promotion, development and encouragement of agriculture ensued. By 1932 we were spending 3190 million dollars a year on agriculture. But this was small change to the New Deal, so they kept upping the ante and plowing things under. This year, they reached an all-time peak of 1 billion 293 million dollars. That, to save you figuring, is more than Four Times the spending of 1932—more than Thirty Times that of 1918. And even the farmers are disgusted now.

National income of leading nations increased between 1932 and 1937, to the following extents, according to a study by the National Industrial Conference Board: Germany 166 per cent; Australia 110.3 per cent; Russia 110 per cent, Great Britain 101.3 per cent, Canada 53.5 per cent; United States 48.6 per cent, France 6 per cent.

Evidently, in spite of spending like pie-eyed pirates, we still have trailed most other nations in recovery.

Who was it said, in 1937: "We planned it that way and don't let anyone tell you differently?"

They have changed the slogan from two chickens in every pot to two families in every garage.

In late October, the national debt crossed the 41 billion dollar mark. It has to be paid with taxes. In 1917, the debt amounted to one billion 282 million dollars. Only a little more than the annual interest on the debt today. Instead of reducing the debt left us by the World War, we have doubled it, in seven years.

GINGER JARS SNOOTY SET IN NEW FILM

When a millionaire's wife plans a trip to Reno so she can marry a playboy, his son neglects the family pump-making business for polo and the daughter travels with a crowd of goldfish gulpers, something should be done.

What that something is and the side-splitting results make up the theme of "Fifth Avenue Girl," RKO Radio's latest starring vehicle for Ginger Rogers.

Walter Conolly plays the millionaire, who sees his family disintegrating before his eyes. His solution is to engage Miss Rogers, a cheerful young member of the army of the unemployed, to be his house guest and let his family think she is a little gold-digger.

The scheme works out in hilarious and often unexpected fashion, with the star managing to solve the problems of all the others, but not getting her own difficulties straightened out until the very end. Distinctly out of the ordinary in its unusual basis and treatment, the picture is said to be one of the season's most delightful offerings and to establish Miss Rogers even more firmly as a brilliant comedienne.

Verree Teasdale, Tim Holt, Kathryn Adams and Franklin Pangborn have the other principal roles in the film, which was both produced and directed by Gregory La Cava for RKO Radio.

Four ten pound turkeys will be given away on Wednesday night.

MRS. GREGORY'S SISTER PASSES

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Gregory and son, Dick, were called to Sacramento Saturday on account of the death of Mrs. Gregory's sister, Mrs. Thos. Holder, early that morning. Funeral services will be held in Woodland tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mr. Gregory will return home while Mrs. Gregory and Dick will remain a few days with Mr. Holder in Sacramento.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Burr, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Helme and Sam Hooper attended a card party in Rough and Ready Saturday evening.

FIRE DAMAGES COTTAGES

Max Solaro, fire truck driver, and fire engine were called out to the corner of Washingtan and Bee Sts. Sunday to extinguish a fire in a small house on the Stambaugh property owned by Mrs. Stambaugh. The house is rented and in some manner the stove was too close to the wall and caught fire when a fire was built in it. The blaze spread from the wall to the ceiling and roof before being extinguished.

ECONOMY IS NEW WATCHWORD ON CAPITOL HILL

By CLEM WHITAKER

Uncle Sam is preparing to tighten his belt and cut the overhead—wherever possible—as a partial offset to huge increases anticipated in national defense appropriations.

That word, emanating from official sources in Washington, promises to have a vital bearing on future appropriations for many of California's federal aid projects—including the WPA, PWA, farm subsidies, the Central Valley Water Project and other programs financed either in whole or in part by the national government.

According to Chairman Vinson of the House Naval Committee, Congress will be asked in January to approve a further $1,300,000,000 expansion program for the Navy designed to make possible a "two-ocean fleet," And word from the national capital indicates that more than two billion dollars will be voted for defense during the coming fiscal year.

While the Pacific Coast will gain in adequate defense, by reason of the program, California and other Pacific Coast states will be asked to cut their requests for federal aid to the bone, as it is considered unlikely that Congress will vote any increases in taxes to meet rising defense costs.

The Central Valley Project which is dependent on continuing federal appropriations, is not expected to suffer so long as no attempt is made to add additional units, or increase its cost—due to the fact that the project is considered a national defense asset both from the standpoint of crop production and betterment of navigation. But in view of the tightened rein on expenditures in Washington, sponsors of the big water project will now oppose, even more vigorously, any effort to divert funds needed for water development to a new power program as contemplated by the Olson administration. And Washington departments may be expected to frown on any possible requests for new allocations to build steam power plants, or other units not included in the original project.

Major cuts in spending by the national government, according to Senator Byrnes, South Carolina, chairman of the Senate Unemployment and Relief Committee, must be made in such items as the $1,755,000,000 annual appropriation for relief, and the $938,000,000 appropriated this year for farm subsidies. And California is on the spot again in the relief situation, for relief expenditures in this state for the current year are more than twice as great as they were at the worst period ruring the depression.

Increased employment should permit a cut in WPA appropriations for the new year. Senator Byrnes indicated, and it is unlikely that Congress will vote funds for continuation of the PWA program.

All of which indicates that California may have to tighten her belt and cut the overhead—just like her Uncle Sam!

The Texas sombrero of Vice President John Nance Garner will be tossed into the arena for the 1940 presidential battle within the next few days, our Washington operative reports. Mr. Garner has made a definite decision to compete for the Democratic nomination, regardless of whether President Roosevelt decides to seek a third term — but the latest gossip from sources close to the White House indicates that Mr. Roosevelt will not be a candidate.

"Never say die" is the motto of the Ham and Eggs promoters—as long as the dimes roll in! But the terrrific shellacking which the 30-Thursday scheme took at the hands of California voters on Nov. 7 hit the movement whehe it lives according to our spies. Discouraged supporters of the plan are falling off—and the promoters are frantically searching for new ways to boom income. Unless the Olson recall can be used to prime the pump, it looks like the well's run dry!

In case you don't know, the Golden Gate International Exposition—which played to more than 10,000,000 people during 1938—will play a return engagement during 1940. The dough is in (or most of it) and the big show will reopen in May. Lack of European travel opportunities, due to Mr. Hitler's subs and belching guns, has turned the traffic flow westward—and Treasure Island is making ready to rake in the reasure again.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By BARBARA PHARISS

An assembly was held Friday at which time there was a pep rally. The yell and song leaders appeared in white sweaters and skirts, recently purchased by the student body. The choruses led the student body in several songs and Bettie Olsen led yells. A Grass Valley delegation came up to speak of the game. The seniors on the team were called up on the stage and asked to say a few words.

COLORFUL CEREMONY

The Armistice Day game was exceptionally colorful. The two bands played in unison at the beginning and marched up behind the colors after the girls drill team. During the raising of the flag, a Grass Valley bugler played "To the Colors," after which the bands played "The Star Spangled Banner."

At half time, the Grass Valley drill team paraded with the band playing in the bleachers. The girls formed a G V and in turn an N C. They were complimented on their performance. They were dressed in white skirts, gold blouses, and red sashes.

The Nevada City bleachers were spectacular with purple and gold pom poms and megaphones.

The crowd was perhaps the largest ever attending. The bleachers were filled, as were many cars, with large numbers standing. It will be of benefit to boh schools, as Nevada City will receive half the gate.

GYPSIES INTERRUPTED

Yesterday afternoon Nevada City officers arrested a group of gypsies, one man and two women, and questioned them at some length over a recent robbery of a man near Smartville. After it was found their car was not the same number and they did not answer the description they were turned loose.

Don McGinnis, formerly with the Safeway store in Nevada City has been transferred from Chico to the company store in Grass Valley. They are moving their household belongings from Chico to Grass Valley.
